

DR PETER ORRIS

Dr. Peter Orris is former Chief of Occupational & Environmental Medicine at UI Health and has more than four decades' experience practicing occupational & environmental medicine in the Chicago area.

He is a fellow of the American College of Physicians and the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine.

Dr. Orris has served as adviser to the World Health Organization (WHO); local, state, and federal governments; environmental organizations; labor unions; corporations. He has edited and authored numerous articles, book chapters, and governmental reports in the field of occupational & environmental medicine, environmental toxicology, and epidemiology.

Dr. Orris maintains an active clinical and teaching practice. Dr Orris possesses a unique perspective that encompasses both the environmental and public health dimensions and was the lead advisor to the position paper on health-based considerations in the Just Transition produced by Health Care Without Harm last year..